QUARTERLY MARKET UPDATE WEBCAST

Late-Cycle Investing Playbook and Midterm Elections

As we head into fall, the chatter on the street and inside the walls of J.P. Morgan is largely focused on two topics:

- Midterm elections: What could different outcomes on November 6 mean for taxes and spending, healthcare and even oversight of the executive branch?
- The next recession: This economic cycle is now the second-longest on record. So when will it end? And when it does, will it end with a bang or a whimper? Will the trade skirmish contribute to its demise? And what should investors be doing at this stage in the cycle?

Join us as we discuss these key topics and share our views on investing today, where to find opportunity and how to prepare for the change in the cycle.
