JPMorgan Funds – Global Unconstrained Equity Fund

Reason for changes

The sub-fund uses a quality and growth framework as part of its unconstrained investment process. The Board believes that focusing the investment approach on a growth style biased approach that seeks to identify companies with superior and sustainable growth potential gives the sub-fund increased prospects for growth. A "growth style biased" portfolio, reflects a style bias or weighting in favour of growth companies, which are companies with fundamentals (such as sales, earnings or assets) which are expected to grow at an above-average rate relative to the market. Accordingly, "style bias risk" will be added to the Main Risks in the prospectus on the Effective Date which reflects the risk of concentrating the portfolio on a particular investment style.

The sub-fund will continue to apply a high conviction approach with minimal constraints. However, it will invest primarily in companies that the Investment Manager believes show the greatest potential for long term growth. The Board believes that this offers better prospects for long term growth, and as such the sub-fund may potentially benefit from economies of scale. The name of the sub-fund will be changed accordingly to reflect these changes.
